George. The 30th BMW Golf Cup International World Final took place this week. The very best of around 100,000 participating amateur golfers had qualified for the event. In the idyllic surroundings of the Fancourt Golf Resort (George, South Africa), they experienced an unforgettable week that was rounded off by one of the most exciting conclusions in the long history of this popular competition: the teams from Taiwan and South Africa were neck and neck in the team standings, which add up a country’s results in the three categories. After application of the countback procedure (over the last 36, 18, 9, 6, 3, 1 holes), it was Team Taiwan that received the winner’s trophy from Colin Montgomerie at the gala dinner to conclude the tournament.

“Congratulations to Team Taiwan on their victory in the National Team competition at the 30th BMW Golf Cup International. This is a fantastic achievement and we are delighted to have such worthy champions as we celebrate this milestone anniversary,” said Jörn Plinke, Head of BMW Golfsport Marketing. “This year’s World Final once again showed why the largest international tournament series continues to inspire so many people around the world, even after three decades: amateur golf in professional conditions, unique experiences and, above all, friendship, mutual respect and the joy of sharing a common interest. This is what golf should be about.”

In the idyllic surroundings of the Fancourt Golf Resort, sheltered by the Outeniqua Mountains, the teams from Taiwan and South Africa scored a total of 293 points (Stableford, net), while third place was claimed by Team Australia (284).

Underlining how everyone involved could feel like winners, no matter how much they had wanted to top the standings, golfing legend Colin Montgomerie delighted guests by bringing the Ryder Cup trophy to the gala dinner. “The BMW Golf Cup International World Final is a golf event second to none,” said Montgomerie. “It’s an honour to have been invited and to witness the camaraderie, spirit and passion shown by dedicated amateur golfers from all around the globe. The World Final has everything that I love about our fantastic sport. Fancourt once again delivered the perfect surroundings for the special kind of premium event BMW is famous for throughout the golfing world. Congratulations, BMW, on the 30th anniversary of the World Final and thank you for everything you have done for the game of golf!”

In the Ladies category (HCP to 28), Yingying Chung (Taiwan, 110) emerged victorious ahead of Makoto Nagai (Japan, 108) and Dily Ng (Singapore, 98). Anthony Struik (Australia, 100) enjoyed a clearer margin of victory in Men A (to HCP 12). The countback procedure was also required here to break the tie for second place in favour of Jannie van Breda. The South African and Kean Su Lem (Singapore) had both scored 96 net points after three tournament rounds.

The decision in Men B (HCP 13-28) was unbelievably tight: just two points separated first and fifth places. Victory went to Neil Cronin (United Kingdom, 104), followed by Mohamed Suliman (South Africa, 104) and Vincent Misuraca (Australia, 103). Matthieu Billmann (France, 102) and Alexander Feistl (Germany, 102) finished in fourth and fifth positions.
