Italian GT Championship: BMW M6 GT3 claims maiden win in Italy.

The third race weekend of the 2016 Italian GT Championship saw BMW Team Italia take its first victory with the BMW M6 GT3. Alberto Cerqui (IT) and Stefano Comandini (IT) first secured pole position with the number 15 BMW M6 GT3 at the “Misano World Circuit Marco Simoncelli” (IT). They then executed a virtually perfect race. Comandini took the lead with just a few laps remaining when Ferrari driver Mirko Venturi (IT) dropped back due to a puncture – and he never looked back. Comandini and Cerqui crossed the finish line 12th in race two on Sunday. The next round of the Italian GT Championship takes place in Mugello (IT) on 17th July.

DTM: Bruno Spengler filmed in action with MAHLE.

Last week, Bruno Spengler (CA) visited MAHLE, Official Partner of BMW Motorsport. In Stuttgart (DE), Spengler and Marcus Abele (DE), the head of development at MAHLE Motorsport, were making a film about the joy of driving for the MAHLE campaign entitled "a vision for mobility". The two men were in agreement: joy and efficiency are not contradictory terms, in motorsport or in series-production cars. At MAHLE, the variety of challenges and extreme conditions in motorsport are often the driving force behind new developments that can be implemented in mass production. Filming took place in a BMW M5 at the historic "Solitude" circuit near Stuttgart, which hosted Formula 1 races until 1964, and at MAHLE's company headquarters in the city centre. MAHLE has been an Official Partner of BMW Motorsport since 2014.
