Garrett Gerloff joins the BMW Motorrad Motorsport family in 2023.

- American Garrett Gerloff to join BMW Motorrad in FIM WSBK.
- Gerloff lines up for the Bonovo action BMW Racing Team next season.
- Marc Bongers: "We are confident that Garret Gerloff will fit very nicely into our squad of BMW Motorrad factory riders and will further strengthen our project."

Woodcliff Lake, NJ – September 15, 2022...BMW Motorrad Motorsport will welcome an addition from the United States of America next year. American Garrett Gerloff will line up as a BMW Motorrad factory rider in the 2023 FIM Superbike World Championship (WorldSBK). The 27-year-old will start for the Bonovo action BMW Racing Team next season.

Gerloff started his career in the USA, where he raced in various championships. In 2016 and 2017 he was crowned MotoAmerica Supersport champion. In the following two years, he enjoyed success in the MotoAmerica Superbike Championship. Since 2020, Gerloff has competed in the World Superbike Championship, where he has repeatedly demonstrated his ability and speed. He impressed with three podiums in his first season in this fiercely-competitive championship. A further two were to follow last year.

"Howdy, and welcome to the BMW Motorrad Motorsport family, Garrett Gerloff," says Marc Bongers, BMW Motorrad Motorsport Director. "We have always followed his development over the past few years. He showed from the outset that he is fast and talented. He has now matured as a rider. We are thrilled to have Garrett on board from next season. We are confident that Garrett will fit very nicely into our squad of BMW Motorrad factory riders and will further strengthen our project. He will help the Bonovo action BMW Racing Team to take the next step towards the top next season."
